SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Sunday the fishing and hunting season in this district came to a close after one of the best years for the sportsmen in recent times. With the closing, however, come the annual evil. Illegal market hunters and fishermen will find better markets for their ill-gotten game and the unscrupulous buyers will be lurking about ready to pay the price. We believe that this closed season will find it tough on lawbreakers as we have an efficient game warden who asks and gives no favors. The game warden naturally cannot patrol the entire courty at one time, but a group of local men have pledged themselves to act as unofficial game wardens and will report any infringement that they observe or can find. These men, whose names are withheld for obvious reasons, will make tours of the streams and hills for the sole purpose of leading to the apprehension of the outlaws. This is expected to result in saving thousands of trout and deer which annually heretofore have been the source of income for a few violators. An unsavory reputation gained in the past for this region will be wiped out and a new order established. Local business men and others must realize that our so-called natural resources are our greatest asset and unless they are protected we will lose heavily. We can find no reason for shortening or altering fishing and hunting seasons if we conserve what we possess.

Don't forget you have a date with the fire department at the annual Hallowe'en ball at Masonic hall, Saturday, October 28.

Plans to provide a funfest for the boys and girls of Truckee on Hallowe'en to eliminate vandalism, are being made by the Truckee Lions and Rotary clubs. The idea is a good one and we hope will appeal to the youngsters, who should be willing to trade what little excitement they may have from destroying property for a good party such as proposed. If the plan succeeds, it will be carried on annually. It's up to the boys and girls to make the decision.

The Tahoe Ski club held its first meeting the other night to outline plans for the coming season. Many new members have been added to the roster of this progressive group and it is worthy of the unified support of the whole district. Everywhere new winter sports clubs are being formed to compete with those now in operation. The Tahoe club is not going to sit back and watch these new clubs gather honors, but will be out there fighting for top place all the time, bringing advertising and promotion for the region.

Property At Gateway Deeded To District For Water Development

Richard Joseph, owner of much of the property in the Gateway Park subdivision, has granted the Truckee Public Utility District three and a quarter acres in the western portion of the tract for developing the water system. The board of directors of the district, in a meeting Tuesday night, accepted the grant.

SCORES OF LOCAL NIMRODS JOIN IN PHEASANT HUNT

Scores of local hunters joined with hundreds of others from other parts of California and Nevada Sunday to outnumber the pheasants and doves on the opening of the season in the Fallon region. Many returned with limits, but many others reported bad luck.

Next Sunday morning the war on ducks will be declared in Nevada and California and once again the local nimords will make their annual pilgrimage to the sinks for the kill.

100,000 Trout To Be Planted In River Soon

Local Men See Results Of Raising Trout In Tanks

SMALL LOSS REPORTED

Excellent Prospects Seen For This Region During Next Season

Within the next few days nearly 100,000 rainbow trout measuring between five and six inches long and in excellent condition to stand the rigors of winter, will be freed from the tanks at the San Francisco Flycasting club on the Truckee river east of here.

This fine crop of trout, raised through the cooperation of the club and Truckee businessmen and sportsmen will be in good shape for the anglers next year. They were supplimented by 75,000 fry planted by the state in the Truckee this summer.

With high water prevailing in the river this summer, many trout were permitted to spawn and prospects for next season are far above normal.

D. E. Kessler, president of the club was host to a group of local business men last Friday when they had an opportunity to view the trout and see the fine work being done to keep the streams here stocked.

Kessler said less than a one per cent loss had been suffered by the trout in the tanks this season.

A general discussion on future plans for the region featured the interesting gathering which followed the lunch at which Kessler was host.

Hunter Shot Accidentally During Nevada Journey

A. R. Ghirard is nursing a painful, though not serious gunshot wound in his right chest suffered during a hunting accident in Nevada last Sunday. One pellet from a shot gun discharge struck with such force that it went through the hunter's heavy clothing far into the chest where it defied the probing of a physician. The name of the hunter who was so careless was obtained by Ghirard. He lives in Nevada.

Hunters Cause Only Two Fires In Tahoe Forest

The hunter kept his pledge.

At least as far as the Tahoe Forest is concerned, according to DeWitt Nelson, forest supervisor, who said that only two fires were reported during the hunting season that were attributed to the hunters—one of them a camper and one a smoker.

Six citations were issued by J. D Rafferty, law enforcement officer for the forest. All were for smoking in restricted areas. None were forest residents.

UNION PLANT GETS WINTER DRESSING

The Union Oil station, operated by James Garibaldi at the intersection of Commercial row and Bridge street, this week is undergoing extensive improvements in preparation for a busy winter season. An enclosed type greasing unit is being erected and the driveways are being replaced. The entire station will be completel renovated and repaired.

Veterans' Building Takes Form As Work Here Shows Fast Progress

The new Veterans' Memorial building overlooking Truckee from its perch near the high school is taking form as the contractors rush work to beat the arrival of winter weather. Truss men have arrived and are now ready to start the task of putting in the overhead structures. Much of the vround work has been completed.

It costs the government $10 a day for each man engaged in suppressing forest fires.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY FOR ALL TRUCKEE CHILDREN PLANNED

A real old-fashioned Hallowe'en party to be held at the grammar school auditorium to which all the boys and girls and young men and wonem have been invited will replace the usual vandalism, it is hoped by the Truckee Lions and Rotary clubs, sponsors of the affair which will be on Tuesday evening, October 31.

President Vern Pearson of the local Rotary club is heading a committee from that organization while Rev. G. J. E. Keetch will have charge of the Lions club committee.

The boys and girls from both the local schools have been asked to take charge of the program at the scene of the party where games and other Hallowe'en stunts will be in order.

With the cooperation of the participants the affair will be made an annual event, but without that cooperation, all futher attempts to hold entertainments will be abandoned, it was announced.

LIONS ARE GUESTS AT VISIT TO LOCAL COCA-COLA PLANT

Members of the Truckee Lions Club were guests of Secertary William Englehart during an interesting inspection of the Truckee Soda Works last night and watched the way in which Coca-Cola and other carbonated beverages are bottled in the modern plant. Englehart, who has won high honors with the Coca-Cola company told of the various processes employed and the cleanliness and exactness which occompanies the job of supplying this region with Coca-Cola.

Truckee Surrounded By Historic, Picturesque Lakes, History Shows

Followng is the second of a series of excerpts taken from Edward's Tourist Guide and Director of the Truckee Basin, published in 1883 and which will be of interest to old-time residents as well as the Johnny-come-latelys.

While it cannot boast of its antiquity, while it has no fuedal castles or monumental relics, while it is strictly speaking a modern town, of insignificant proportions, yet it is surrounded by peaks and mountains tipped with eternal snow, girdled on all sides by the loveliest of transparent lakes whose placid surfaces reflect the shadows of fir-decked hills; whose clear depths are the marvel and wonder of the century and whose fame individually and collectively have been rehearsed by poets and writers throughout the entire globe, and, whose names are familiar in the giddy salons of Paris, the gay capitals of Europe, and whose legends are lores are voluminous enough to fill a score of books.

Who has not heard of or read the dreadful tales of Donner with its famine-eaten score? Who has not heard of Tahoe, with its hundreds of legends; Tahoe, within whose treacherous depths once to sink is to rise no more? Webber, beautiful Webber, with its almost fairy-like stories? Independence, wierd, grand and mysterious, and the dozens of smaller lakes—each one giving its mite to mysterious and tragic lore! All these has Truckee, they are hers, and she is proud of them.

Rushing boiling, tearing through the midst of this mountain town is the Truckee River, an object of interest and wonder to all who behold.

The origin of its name involves a little story which may be briefly recited as follows:

On the 20th of May, 1844, a party of emigrants started from Council Bluffs for California, reaching Sacramento December 15 of the same year. When the party struck the Humboldt river, near Battle Mountain, an Indian came into camp who professed to have knowledge of the route from that point to California. He gave his name as "Truckee." From the information he gave them of the country they concluded to employ him as their guide. As they progressed westward his statements regarding the country were verified, and upon reaching the Truckee river, at the lower crossing, now Wadsworth, he had become such a favorite with the party that after their dreary, monotonous journey across the continent, the welcome sight of pure, bright water of the river and the abundance of fish they secured, made their hearts swell up and in a spirit of gratitude and thankfullness to their guide for leading them to what was considered an oasis, they determined to christen the river "Truckee."

FIREMEN SELECT BEST ESSAYS IN DIFFICULT TASK

A task almost as difficult as fighting a bad fire was faced by members of the Truckee Volunteer Fire Department Tuesday when they were called upon to judge a score or more of essays presented by students in the two schools vieing for the awards offered by the department for the best paper on fire prevention in the home.

Final judgment gave the three awards to Miss Dolley Petroni of the high school division, Nick Sassarini for the upper elementary grades and Lois Smith for the lower grades.

The firemen expressed their appreciation for the splendid cooperation by the pupils and declared that all essays were worthy of prizes and that they were sorry not to be in a position to give more awards.

Miss Petroni's Essay

..How can we give any real help for fire prevention? First of all by a study of our habits. Carelessness causes the vast maority of fires. We should all share the responsibility of cutting down our fire losses by following a few simple rules.

1. You should always strike a match in a direction away from you. Be sure the match is out before you throw it down. Matches should be kept in a metal container away from the heat. Do not carry matches loose in your pocket.

2. Stoves and furnaces should be set as far as possible from woodwork. The nearest woodwork should be protected by sheet asbestos, iron, or tin, with an open air space behind iron or tin. Keep pipes and flues in good condition, free from soot. Never kindle a fire with kerosene. Do not let stoves, furnaces or pipes become red-hot. A fire screen should be kept before an open fire. Do not burn loose papers in a fireplace.

3. Keep watch on all boiling and frying. Do not clean with gasoline near a fire or flame. Most preparations for dry cleaning give off a gas which takes fire readily. Keep oily waste in a metal can.

4. Turn off the current for a sweeper, iron, toaster, or other apparatus when not in use. It is also dangerous to loop electric wires over a nail as the rubbing of the wire on the nail may remove the insulation and start a fire. Do not use rubber tubing for gas connections. Electric wiring in the house should be in metal conduits, all wiring should be done by an expert.

5. Do not allow smoking in a garage or in a car while tank is being filled Keep watch on careless smokers.

6. Keep all celluloid articles away from flame and heat.

7. Do not heap rubbish around the house.

These measures for fire prevention are taken in our home, and should be taken in other homes. If everyone would follow a few simple rules hundreds of lives and millions of dollars of property would be saved.

Nick Sassarini's Essay

There are a lot of causes of fire in the home, such as leaving the stove open, throwing ashes on the floor letting babies play with matches and firecrackers near the house; leaving old oily rags where the sun can hit them, using gasoline to clean clothes remodeling old fuses with pennies or tinfoil, leaving home without being sure the gas isn't off.

You should break a match in half to be sure it will not start a fire. Careless people often leave lighted cigarettes on furniture and even take them to bed and as a result they set the house afire. If you are burning rubbish or leaves you should burn them in a big can so the flames will not cause a fire.

In the olden days fire was put out with men in a line who relayed buckets from one to another, but today they have long hoses, fast engines and new ways of putting out fires and they also have hydrants in certain spots of town to deliver the water.

There are all kinds of losses such as furniture, valuable papers, but the one and most important is lives of people who may be caught in the midst of fire, some losses not only caused by fire but by water and smoke as well.

Border Stations To Close Again Under Program

Quarantine Stations May Be Asked To Take Over Some Duties

'ECONOMY' IS ASKED

New Director Makes Plans To Close Checking Stations

Although in office only a few short weeks, State Director of Motor Vehicles Howard R. Philbrick has announced that he has already made arrangements for the closing of the border patrol stations and has a plan being worked out for some of the activities to be taken over by the state quarantine stations operated by the state department of agriculture.

The stations have been the mark for considerable buffeting about during the present administration. They were ordered closed on August 1 and reopened September 1 for "a trial period." Then just as it began to appear they were to again become a permanent part of the state system, came the announcement that they were destined for the skids.

Why these revenue securing units are on the blacklist has never been satisfactorily explained, although a number of excuses including the one of "economy" have been advanced in a vague fashion.

They have long been under fire by the state chamber of commerce and the automobile associations, who asked an open door policy for California. This was particularily desired, the opponents said, during the past year to encourage more travel to the state during the fair season. A few complaints against the stations have been made to sound like a direct insult to the intelligence of the people of the state and this "nuisance" coupled with the need for strict "economy" has resulted in the most recent order to close the units.

The proposal is only one of several made by Philbrick to reduce expenditures and build up up revenue for the motor vehicle department.

FIRE GUARDS STILL RETAIN POSITIONS

Fire season is not over as was anticipated by the forest service officials, it was announced this week. The last few days have made very dry conditions in the forest and extra guards have been stationed.

Eighty per cent of the fire crews normally terminate their term on October 10. Fourteen of these men have been placed back in their positions.

Honor For Killing Last Buck Of Season Goes To Earl Edmunds Here

The coveted honor of killing the first buck of the season this year went to Earl Smith of Truckee, but it took Earl Edmunds to cop the consolation token—the killer of the last deer.

Accompanied by Stan Gregory and Roy Waters, Edmunds spent the last day of the season at Crystal Peak. Less than an hour before the season closed a big four pointer got careless and came in range. Had he waited an hour longer he would have been safe for another year or until shot by a market killer.

THE THIRD TERM ISSUE

A number of our Presidents have expressed their sentiments on the third term issue during our existence as a nation and each one has been adverse to the third term idea, according to Walter S. Steele, who writes of the historical aspects of the third term issue in the National Republic. In part Mr. Steele says:

"During our political existence as a republic, from George Washington to Fraklin D. Roosevelt, we have elected to the Presidency 13 Republicans, 9 Democrats, 4 Republican-Democrats, 2 Federalists and 3 Whigs. Twelve of these, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, were elected to serve two terms of office, while fifteen were either turned out of office at the end of one term, or during their first term died in office. Only two Presidents to date, not including Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has not declared himself a candidate and has not been officially nominated as a candidate for a third term, have ever aspired to a third term. One of these was Ulysses S. Grant, who was turned down for the nomination for a third term at the Republican convention. He did not, in fact, as a party candidate the third time. The other was Theodore Roosevelt. Grover Cleveland was the only person who received the nomination of a major party three times. The Democrats honored him thus because his second attempt was unsuccessful. Consequently, the people elected him for only two terms, although he was given three chances at the office by the Democratic Party. Teddy Roosevelt received honors twice from the Republican Party. He was elected Vice Presidentthe first time, and upon the assassination of President McKinley was elevated to the Presidency. After serving McKinley's unexpired term, he was elected President in his own right. The Republican Party refused to nominate him for a third term. That this was in keeping with public sentment was clearly indicated when Roosevelt received only 4,126,000 votes after he bolted the Republican Party and ran for a third term on the Progressive (Bull Moose) ticket. However, he received enough a sufficient number of votes to defeat the Republican candidate and, as a result, the Democratic candidate, Woodrow Wilson was elected. Later, Senator La Follette, the father of the present senator from Wisconsin, turned the tables. He received 4,822,856 votes on the Progressive ticket, thus defeating a Democratic candidate and electing a Republican, Calvin Coolidge, to office.

"With the exception of Ulysses S. Grant and Theodore Roosevelt, history does not record that any President ever seriously aspired to an extension of office beyond two terms. In preventing these two individuals from serving third terms, the people used sound judgment, nd it is believed that they will continue to use such sound judgment in the future in the event any President ever attempts to extend his tenure of office for more than eight years. Of course, there are those who wish their pet candidate and office-holder to hold his position for life. If the public should ever disregard the precedent set by Washington and adhered to by the majority of our chief executives with regard to a third term and permitted one man, under the guise of an 'emergency,' to hold office three terms, there would be a clamor later for four terms, and possibly life tenure of office, resulting in a reversion to the pre-Revolutionary War days of a one-man dictatorship in America, good examples of which exist in other parts of the world today."

REPRINTED FROM THE SACRAMENTO BEE

The Ham and Eggs pension planners are howling about a number of things. First its the tremendous amount of money that has been thrown into the fray against them. Last week, according to the Secretary of State,it was announced that the supporters of the funny money scheme had spent two and one-half times as much as their opponents. Next they crab of a "kept press" and then they send out reams of waste basket news to these "kept papers." You figure it out, it's beyond us.

Victim of Might

(WNU SERVICE)

PROCLAMATION

Petitions signed by approximately 737,000 purportedly qualified electors of this state have heretofore been presented to me, requesting that I call a special election for a vote of the people on a proposed constitutional amendment initiated by petition making the same request, signed by 366,180 qualified electors and filed in the office of the Secretary of State, under the following title and summary of the general purpose and points of said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of California:

"RETIREMENT WARRANTS.—Initiative Constitutional Amendment. Requires State issue weekly at least thirty $1.00 warrants for life to electors fifty years old, neither employer nor employee, redeemable annually in cash, provided stamps sold by State affixed thereon weekly; warrants receivable for all obligations due State or political subdivisions, and some due therefrom. Incorporates Sales Use Tax Acts. Enacts 3 per cent gross income tax. Creates State bank to handle warrants; made sole depository for all public funds; requires $20,000,000 bond issue for initial capital. Permits Administrator propose amendments, calling elections thereon. Creates Economics Board. Prohibits Court interference with administration."

Under Article IV, Section 1, of the Constitution, this proposed amendment must be placed upon the ballot for a vote of the pepole at the next general election on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November 1940, unless a special election is duly called for a vote on the same prior to said general election.

Article IV, Section 1, of the Constitution, provides that when an initiative petition is filed with the Secretary of State:

> "The secretary of state shall submit the said proposed law or amendment to the Constitution to the electors at the next succeeding election occuring subsequent to one hundred thirty days after the presentation aforesaid of said petition, or at any special election called by the governor in his discretion prior to such general election."

It is my duty to exercise the authority thus conferred upon me by the Constitution, with sound discretion and due consideration, not only of the request of the proponents and their constitutional right of iniative, but also the rights of all other electors; in order that the fullest possible opportunity shall be given for thorough consideration, discussion and action by all electors on this important measure.

This proposed measure would make far-reaching changes in the Constitution of the state and vital changes in the whole taxation system under the present Constitution. It contains provisions of an experimental nature affecting the fiscal operations of state and local governments, and involves constitutional questions under provisions of the Constitution of the United States. It, therefore, should be most carefully considered and fully discussed by the voters, dispassionately, unemotionally, upon the basis of reason only, and in the light of all available facts and information that can be afforded.

The issues raised by this measure are such that they would overshadow all other state issues (and there will be a number of them) on the ballot at the General Election in 1940. They would also overshadow consideration by the voters of the qualifications and principles presented by candidates for the important state and national offices to be voted upon at the 1940 General Election, including candidates for President of the United States.

I am, therefore, convinced that it is wise and just and that it will serve to accomplish more intelligent operation of our democratic processes to have a special election on the question of the adoption or rejection of this measure, free from its confusion with any other statewide issue.

In that belief, I informally stated when these petitions were formally presented to me, that I would call a special election on this measure after the adjournment of the recent session of the legislature, and that I felt sure the date fixed therefor would be satisfactory to the proponents and to the people as a whole.

In fixing that date, consideration must be given to the fact that a similar measure was voted upon at the general election held in November of last year. If it were not for the fact that hundreds of thousands of people believe that a majority is now ready to accept this measure and that its adoption would mean their economic salvation and their permanent relief from the poverty, insecurity and distress they now suffer; and, if it were not for the far-reaching nature of this measure and the justification above stated for having it voted upon at a special election, I would leave it to be voted upon at the general election in 1940

The Secretary of State advises that preparation for a special election will require approximately ninety days. The first Tuesday after the first Monday in November is the date on which the electors are accustomed to voting. That date this year is only one year from the date when the similar measure was voted upon by the people. Some local elections will occur, minimizing the expense of a special state election on that date.

All matters considered, I have decided that it is a proper exercise of my discretion to fix the date of this special election for Tuesday, November 7, 1939. This date, I am told by many of the petitioners, is satisfactory to them. It should be satisfactory to all proponents of the measure, as well as all other voters of the state

In fairness and justice to the proponents of this measure, to all of the electors of the state, and to my own conscience and intellectual freedom I must repeat here what I stated when I informally announced my intention to call this special election, that it must not be infevred from this call that I believe this measure feasible or that, if adopted, it would work to accomplish the objectives of its proponents.

I am thoroughly in sympathy with and I shall continue to work, as I have heretofore worked, for those objectives, that is to say: for the social security of all citizens; for relief from economic submergence, poverty, and distress of so large a portion of our population expressed in the demands which the proponents of this measure believe they can realize by its adoption.

The demand for old age retirement and security is a vital issue throughout the nation.

That demand is manifested in this and other movements appealing to the distress of the aged, the unemployed, and the under-employed.

The platform on which I was elected recognized that fact, and affirms that for uniformity, equity and financing, old age pensions in their entirety should be provided for and administered by the Federal Government.

I would be false to my own conscience and sense of duty if I failed to here express my belief that, if adopted, this measure would fail to achieve its objectives, would disappoint the hopes of its supporters, and would retard instead of aiding our progress to a better economic order.

I must also state that there are provisions with regard to the use of unstamped warrants for legal payment of taxes and other obligations, which the judicial branch of the government may hold to be inconsistent with certain provisions of the Constitution of the United States. However, the act provides that if any one or more sections are held unconstitutional, other constitutional sections would not thereby be affected; and there are other sections which may be held constitutional.

It is the right of the petitioners to propose, and the right of the electors to adopt this measure if that is the will of the majority of the people. It is that right that I respect and shall protcet to the limit of my power against any obstruction to its exercise.

With this explanatory statement, I CULBERT L. OLSON, Governor of the State of California, by virtue of the authority vested in me by Article IV, Section 1, of the Constitution of the State of California, do hereby call and proclaim a special election to be held throughout the State of California on Tuesday, the 7th day of November, 1939, at which election there will be submitted to the qualified electors of said state for adoption or rejection in accordance with the provisions of Section 1, of Article IV, of the Constitution of said state, that certain initiative measure proposed by initiative petition filed with the Secretary of State and bearing the title and summary above set forth.

And I do hereby offer a reward of One Hundred Dollars for the arrest an conviction of any and every person violating any of the provisions of Title Four, Part One, of the Penal Code, or of Division XIV of the Elections Code, whichever be in effect; such rewards to be paid until the total amount hereafter expended for the purpose reaches the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed hereto, this first day of July, A. D., one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine.

STRANGE TALES AT TAHOE RESULT FROM SEASON'S HUNTING

TAHOE CITY, Oct. 19.— Buck hunting and fishing in the Tahoe area have come to an end for another season. Fishing proved better in the early days of the season than toward the close—and buck hunting turned practically nil during the latter half following the early snow and rain storms. Some old timers never did get a shot at a buck, regretting the publicity which drew more hunters to the Tahoe region than there were bucks to go around.

Successful during the last week were Albert Henry, Jr., who Wednesday brought in a fine buck from the region of Doyle and Carlo Vanni who had a lucky streak on the closing day and brought down a hefty big buck in the region of Rampart. It was a blacktail deer not customarily found in local regions and was so cumbersome that Vanni had to seek help to get it home.

Tahoe hunters this year have a number of unusual hunting stories to recount, one of the strangest perhaps being that of Walt Ashton, a Truckee butcher, who in the company of F. E. Walker and the latter's nephew, Bud, hunted last week in the Loyalton area. Early in the day Ashton shot at a buck, but when he hurried over to where the animal had been shot nothing remained but a portion of the antler which had been shot from the buck's head.

Disappointed, but not entirely discouraged, the hunter picked up the shattered points and carried them along with him. Some time later in the afternoon he got another shot at a buck and this time when he rushed over to inspect his kill, another hunter stood over the carcass, claiming ownership. Ashton was more than a little delighted when he looked down and iscovered it was the one at which he had shot in the morning, the antlers which he carried matching the deer's head exactly. There could be no better proof of ownership so Ashton took the buck home.

On Saturday Charles Worsham, James Wilson, Charles Swanson and Jimmie Swanson and Harold Miller of Dixon left in the wee small hours to hunt near Hirschdale. During a drive a beautiful buck crossed the landscape and Wilson looked down his barrel and prepared to bring the big fellow to earth. But fate was against him, for as he took aim and pulled the trigger the spring broke and the buck made his getaway in safety. Just another break that the hunter experiences—and one which will long rankle in Wilson's memory

It was on this same location that Charles Swanson last week had a most unusual experience. In company with friends he scaled one of the higher peaks, taking a post on the side slope as the drive was made below. Sitting quietly on a rock with his gun in readiness, he was startled as a deer made its way through the thick underbrush nearby. Waiting tensely to see its head, he soon saw it was a mule tail doe, followed by four other does none of them weighing less than 200 pounds. They stopped within 50 feet of where he sat and after eyeing him curiously, they started pawing the ground and ignoring him entierly, proceeded to lie down and rest. Swanson was astounded at their tameness and after watching them for ten minutes, began a series of bird calls and whistles, expecting them to jump and rush away at once. Instead they again eyed him and continued their siesta. Not until he tired of sitting and deliberately scare them did they take off down the mountain. His only regret was that he did not carry a camera to record the experience in picture form.

One regrettable story comes from the Hell Hole region where Dr. C. B. Pedersen had gone hunhting with two guides. The guides left him after they had killed a buck and all night the octor was forced to remain in the open before he finally made his way on foot to civilization where he had left his car. Finding that he had been abandoned by his companions, the doctor with ifficulty made a fire in the wind and snow and without equipment he made the best of a bad eal until morning.

The doctor estimated that he traveled at least 30 miles on foot before he discovered that he had had been left without horses or guide. The two men originally with him had evidently forgotten him. The doctor declares that in the future he will be more choicy with his companions.

California Special x Election News x

(edited by Douglas Barrett)

Of the 11,107 voters in Nevada county eligible to vote in last November's election, 3002 failed to show up at the polls and of the 8105 who did vote, 485 did not take a stand on the Ham and Eggs proposal which lost in the county by a majority of 710 votes, according to C. Raymond Clinch, head of the anti-30-Thursday campaign in this county.

California state employes were this week warned that enactment of the Ham and Eggs scheme would ruin their $9,500,000 retirement system.

Ralph Nelson, actuary of the system, said that the fund would receive at least half of its income in warrants and would be required to affix 2 cent stamps to the warrants each week.

"Since the system could not dispose of the retirement compensation warrants," Nelson said, "it would be wrecked by owning them."

According to United Press, the state printing office turned out 3,750,00 of the special election electors booklets, more than two carloads going to Los Angeles county alone.. This is the largest ob of this type turned out by the office and tied up the plant for a month.

The county assessors of California are on record as unanimously opposing Proposition No.1, the 30-Thursday pension scheme.

This fact was made known by John M. Hammil, assessor for Nevada conty, who recently returned frmo an assessors convention held in Oakland. Fifty four of the fifty eight assessors in the state were present and took part in the debate.

According to Hammil, a strong set of resolutions opposing the measure was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The Retirement Life Payments association has spent more than two and a half times as much money sponsoring the $30-Thursday plan as 26 other organizations have thrown into the campaign against them, the United Press reports from the secretary of state's office.

The Ham and Eggers report receipts of $460,519 and expenditures of $457,785. The opposition spent only $177,927 but holds nearly $50.000 in reserve for the remainder of the campaign as receipts total $226,712.

Of the opposition war chest, $102,221 was collected by the Northern California Citizens Against 30-Thursday and $90,348 by the similar group in southern California. The remainder was reported by 24 local groups in opposition to the plan. Eight San Francisco banks were the largest northern contributors to the opposition fund while in the south the Los Angeles chamber of commerce donated $30,000 to be used against the Utopian pension plan.

When Grant Shaved Beard

Gen. U. S. Grant liked his beard and didn't want to be seen without it. But once while he was President he shaved it off just to accommodate the treasury department. Officials of the department wanted to use his picture on an issue of paper money—without the beard. So he shaved it off, posed, and let it grow in again. And then—the treasury department decided not to use the picture.

WOODLAND PAYS OFF LAST INSTALLMENT ON RAZED CITY HALL, CLEARS DEBT

WOODLAND, Oct. 19 —(UP)—It was like buying a dead horse, Woodland taxpayers agreed, when the city paid $1950 as the final installment on a city hall which was torn down seven years ago.

The now almost forgotten city hall was built in 1892, being financed with a $30,000 bond issue. The bonds were refunded in 1899 with a new 40-year issue, the last payment on which was not due until this month.

But once was enough. The new city hall was paid for in cash.

BIT OF WISDOM

The wise and brave dares own that he was wrong. ——FRANKIN.

PEOPLE say modern lighting that is "easy on the eyes" makes the eyes feel better . . . And they are right . . . Good lighting brings out the beauty of the home furnishings . . . It aids personal beauty, too.

Light that is glaring brightness or that is dim and gloomy makes hard work of seeing. It causes squints and frowns and scowls and brings on many premature wrinkles and face-lines.

Good, modern lighting merely means the right kind of light, and the right amount of light where you read or sew or use your eyes. And you can have it easily, quickly, inexpensively.

Baldwin Works Deliver New S. P. Engines

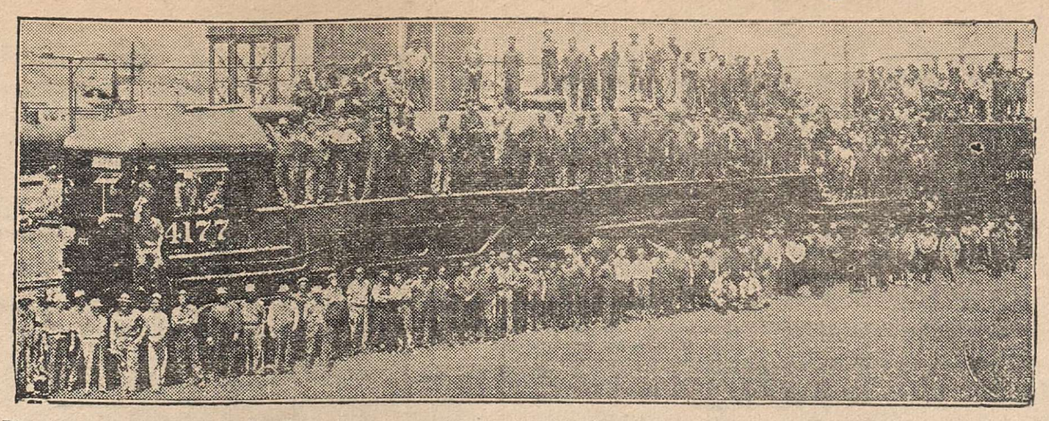

Photo shows one of Southern Pacific company's new cab-in-front locomotives of the 4-8-8-2 articulated type used in heavy freight and passenger service. The Baldwin Locomotive Works is now engaged in filling a $5,000,000 order for 28 of these distinctive locomotives, placed by the S. P. as part of its 1939 improvement program. The so-called cab-in-front locomotive was first developed for Southern Pacific a number of years ago and is uesd exclusively by that railroad today. By having the cab in front, engine crews are protected from exhaust gases while passing through tunnels and have a better view of the track around curves.
